Final Call for County Bar Recognition Award Nominations

You should have received a letter requesting your submissions for the PBA County Bar Recognition Awards that will be presented at the CCBL. If you have not responded, please do so immediately. It's especially easy when you use our online submission form at www.pabar.org/public/localbar/recognitionawards.asp.

This awards program is unique in that it does not place your bar in competition with other county bars for statewide recognition. Instead, it is designed to recognize projects of all county bar associations that in some way contributed to the improvement of the legal profession, the justice system or the community.

Those bar associations whose projects meet the criteria will be presented an award and a news release will be distributed to the media in their counties. The project must have been undertaken during 2007, although it may have begun previously or is to be continued in 2007 and beyond. There is no requirement that it be entirely contained within the calendar year. A bar association may submit more than one project for consideration but no more than three.

Please submit an entry on behalf of your local county bar association so that we may give your efforts appropriate recognition in your community and among your colleagues across the state. ■

By Terry D. Weiler, Esq.

The theme of the Conference of County Bar Leaders (CCBL) this year says it all. We have again gathered leaders in their fields to tackle hard topics designed to help you manage a healthy bar association with the least possible risk.

Two new topics to be presented this year include:

- Penina Lieber, Esq., Pennsylvania's legal expert on nonprofit organizations, will address the difference between a 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(6) filing and why the distinction matters. This one-hour plenary session will be followed by a breakout session reviewing your specific bar association and foundation issues and common legal issues faced in this area.
- Identifying employee theft and embezzlement within your organization, and what to do when you find it. Even if you have been personally reviewing your organization's records and have had yearly professional audits, find out how fraud can occur and be missed by your staff and audit firm.

Those of us who attend regularly have come to expect and enjoy several favorite presentations: We will again have Bill Hoffmeyer present on the Unauthorized Practice of Law and Ellen Freedman will have a new presentation on law office management. We have revamped the presentation on planning for your year as bar president. It's shaping up to be a winner. As always, there will be plenty of time to learn and to socialize.

Bar leaders rely on the CCBL to provide the forum for bar execs and boards to exchange ideas, solve regional and statewide issues and stimulate the improvement of the legal profession in general. This year will be no exception!

As the president of the CCBL Executive Committee, I look forward to meeting you all for a fun-filled and educational seminar this year! ■

Can We Talk? A Unique Opportunity

By Sam Milkes, Pennsylvania Legal Aid Network (PLAN) Executive Director

We are pleased to announce a new attraction to the Conference of County Bar Leaders (CCBL) Meeting in State College. A dinner will be held the evening of Feb. 28 to bring together county bar presidents and chancellors, county bar executives and secretaries, and leaders from the legal services programs, as well as PBA executive staff and officers. The purpose of this not-just-social, by-invitation-only occasion will be to allow close dialogue about successes, challenges and next steps in the provision of civil legal aid and pro bono services across the state. PBA President Andy Susko and I will provide a statewide overview of efforts to improve civil legal aid for the neediest among us, but the main focus of the dinner will be to foster conversations at a county-by-county level. Andy and I hope that the dinner provides such a successful exchange between legal services and the organized bar that this inaugural event, sponsored by PLAN and the PBA Pro Bono Office, becomes an annual part of the CCBL Seminar.

Legal Aid Programs Provide Extensive Services Across the State

Legal aid programs that are part of the Pennsylvania Legal Aid Network provide direct client services to over 100,000 eligible clients each year. Every county in the state is served by a local program and six specialized programs target special needs such as healthcare and housing. Considering the size of a typical family, over 300,000 people in Pennsylvania have been served. Nearly 300 full-time legal aid attorneys in Pennsylvania handle this tremendous volume of cases in a highly professional manner, providing much-needed support to those in need. Even though the program is working to capacity, only one in five poor people in Pennsylvania who are in need of attorney representation ever get it.

Pro Bono Services Fill a Major Need In Every County

The pro bono services of private lawyers help ensure access to representation for many of the poor in Pennsylvania who are not able to be served through the Legal Aid Network. Many counties have a pro bono plan, but the best programs involve a partnership of the PBA, PLAN, the local bar and local legal services providers.

The Pennsylvania Bar Association Board of Governors and House of Delegates recently reconfirmed the PBA's vision of access to justice for all by asking for an increase in legal aid funding and an expansion of legal services to the poor. The PBA has also broadly enunciated its commitment to pro bono services in support of the poor, asking every lawyer annually to either take a new pro bono case or to continue to work on one, provide direct client services in other ways listed in the resolution, or make a financial contribution.

The upcoming dinner will allow leaders of the organized bar, at both the state and local levels, to join with their counterparts in legal aid to set forth next steps as to how Pennsylvania can narrow the gap between need for, and availability of, legal representation. ■

PBA Solicits Nominations for Pro Bono Awards

PBA President Andrew F. Susko has announced the opening of the nomination period for the Annual Pro Bono Awards of the PBA's Legal Service to the Public Committee. This is the 21st year that the Committee has sought nominees and these awards have come of age under the leadership of the Committee this past year as the PBA Board of Governors and House of Delegates have passed resolutions endorsing pro bono service and supporting the expansion of funding and services for civil legal aid. The 2008 Pro Bono Awards will be presented at the PBA Annual Pro Bono Conference, which will be held in Harrisburg in connection with the PBA Day on the Hill at the beginning of May. The award winners also will be acknowledged at the PBA Annual Meeting in early June in Hershey.

This is your chance to recognize and thank those attorneys and judges who have used their talents to help the needy in your county. While the obstacles to equal access to justice continue to mount, the willingness of attorneys to help meet the legal needs of the indigent in their communities is important to those in need of service and bestows honor upon our great profession. These nominees provide services that allow the doors of justice to remain open to all citizens.

Additional criteria can be found at www.pabar.org/public/probono/ProBonoAwardPresidentsMemo2008.pdf. The nomination form is located at www.pabar.org/public/probono/probonohome.asp. The form can be completed electronically and you will receive instant confirmation that we have received your nomination. Please contact PBA Pro Bono Coordinator David Keller Trevaskis at (800) 932-0311, Ext. 2236, or david.trevaskis@pabar.org with any questions.

The deadline for nominations is April 11, 2008. ■

Blair

Football Social

Members of the Blair County Bar Association attended a Steeler Monday Night Football party at Atty. Laverne M. Kovacs' Black and Gold Tavern on Nov. 5. Bradford

The Bradford County Bar Association sponsored a free showing of To Kill a Mockingbird in memory of county attorney David Keefe and his wife, Carol, who were murdered in 2006. The association also held a memorial for late attorneys Michael DeSisti, John Schmitthener and Joseph Galletti.

It also described various programs offered by the association and the Chester County Bar Foundation, and provided insight and updates on various aspects of the local court system. The association also held a "Meet Your Judges" event that included the reenactment of the 1821 case Commonwealth v. John Reed.

Erie

Collaboration with Medical Society

The Erie County Bar Association and Erie County Medical Society have formed a joint organization called the Coalition of Attorneys and Physicians in Erie (CAPE). Its goal is to provide education in areas of mutual interest as well as networking opportunities. The first such venture, a seminar, was held on Nov. 1 at the new Erie Bayfront Convention Center, with 120 attorneys and physicians registered. The program dealt with advance directives and provided a panel of three attorneys and three physicians discussing the topic from their professional perspectives.

It was eye-opening for physicians to learn some details of the Act 169, which they did not fully understand, and for attorneys to hear real-life scenarios from physicians who deal with patients, their families and advance directives issues on a daily basis.

Committee chairs presented year-end reports and seven attorneys were unanimously voted into the association. Superior Court Judge Correale Stevens presented "Appellate Practice Issues" at a LCBA Lunch and Learn. Attorneys were enlightened and entertained with stories and information relating to brief writing, oral arguments and interpretation issues. Members of the association also sponsored a "Meet Your Legislators" event with Rep. Rosemarie Swanger and Rep. Mauree Gingrich, and Joe Sterns, public relations director for Sen. Mike Folmer. The evening did not include a specific agenda, but was meant as a time for socializing with local legislators in a private audience. However, a hot topic of discussion did include the proposed sales tax on legal services.

Technology Improvements

Installation of cable and the purchase of equipment is underway for the LCBA to begin hosting its own CLEs as well as simulcasts from the Pennsylvania Bar Institute. Seed money came from a $4,800 grant from the PA Bar Trust Fund and Insurance Fund.

Community Outreach

The LCBA now has a Web site (at www.lebanoncountybar.org). The site, was completed gratis, as a resume builder by an area man attending Harrisburg Area Community College's Lebanon campus. Designed for members and the general public, the site includes the Lawyer Referral Service application and contact information, attorney membership information, notes of local interest and other information pertaining to the association.

The LCBA is also partnering with the national nonprofit career exploration program "Exploring" to expose local students to careers in law. Approximately 10 students have registered for monthly, hands-on activities to discover what lawyers do every day. Ten lawyers have volunteered to lead discussions and activities, which will include a mock trial, field trips and special guest speakers.

Following the ceremony, MCBA members and their family and friends were invited to the bar center for a reception, refreshments and entertainment by the Barbershop Chorus of the Poconos.

Montgomery

Sexual Predator Information Programs

The Montgomery Bar Association Community Outreach Committee recently completed production of a 45-minute television program and DVD titled "The Process of a Sexual Predator." The program intends to provide parents and educators with many of the tools needed to protect children from the threat of online sexual predators.

Over 300 copies of the free video will be distributed to area schools, libraries, parent groups and individuals. The program will also be available for viewing on Comcast's Video-on-Demand service, select cable channels and public access.

In the program (hosted by MBA Women in Law Committee Chair Elizabeth L. Lippy), past and present members of the Montgomery County District Attorney's Office, the Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force and the Sexual Assault Task Force provide chilling yet realistic perspectives from the trenches. Viewers will witness a live chat room demonstration and learn about other hotbeds for online predators. The program also uncovers key prosecution and defense strategies, ramifications and common misconceptions about Megan's Law, how sexual predators get caught and — most importantly — how to protect children from being victimized.

To generate early interest, the MBA announced pre-release availability of the video at the U.S. Attorney's Eastern District Web Wise Kids training program for middle school teachers and faculty, held recently at Montgomery County Community College. Montgomery County D.A. Risa Vetri Ferman announced the release in her opening remarks.

Funding for the program was provided by the Montgomery County Office of the District Attorney, the Bar Association Community Outreach Committee and Commerce Bank.

Northampton

New Social

The Northampton County Bar Association began a new event this fall — The Amicus Soiree, held at a new golf resort. This event replaces the more formal Barristers' Ball that had been held in December.

People's Law School Adds New Topics

The NCBA held their People's Law School this fall. In addition to the regular programs, two new twists were added this year. The last night of the semester included a program on gambling and casino law. The new casino in Bethlehem will be opening within two years. Since this is a new and hot topic in the Lehigh Valley, the association decided to offer the course, which included a brief history on how gambling began, requirements casinos must follow regarding state laws, and plans for the new casino. The other addition to the class was a fictional scenario of a couple, with children, in the middle of a divorce and involved in a fatal car crash. The scenario brought together how one family can go through the many different types of law and courts with just one unfortunate accident.

Holiday Ceremony

The Northampton County Bar Association held a holiday ceremony to celebrate and tour the expanded county courthouse. Speakers included state Superior Court Judge Jack Panella and U.S. Third Circuit Senior Judge Franklin S. Van Antwerpen, both of whom are county residents.

Westmoreland

PBA Quality of Life/Balance Committee Offers FREE Ethics CLE

By Carlton Walker, Esq.

We all know there is no such thing as a free lunch. But, thanks to the PBA Quality of Life/Balance Committee, free CLE does exist.

The Quality of Life/Balance Committee (QOL) has several video vignettes that dramatize the difficult situations in which we attorneys sometimes find ourselves. The videos serve as a jumping-off point for audience discussion of the ethical and practical problems presented. This discussion can be moderated by a volunteer member of the QOL, local attorneys and/or judges, or a combination of these.

These presentations vary between one hour and 90 minutes in length and work well as breakfast sessions, Lunch-and-Learns, or after-work gatherings. The videos address different topics from which you may choose, and the presentations have been approved for ethics continuing legal education credit.

Please consider offering this valuable — yet priceless — CLE opportunity to members of your bar. It's as easy as contacting me at AttorneyWalker@gmail.com or at (717) 485-4529. I look forward to hearing from you! ■

Carlton Walker is a solo practicing in McConnellsburg, Fulton County. She serves as co-vice chair of the PBA Quality of Life/Balance Committee.

BRINGING EXCELLENCE TO CLE

the county line

With the wrong lawyer's professional liability insurance plan, you could end up practicing here.

Only one plan has earned the recommendation of your bar association, for two very good reasons . . .

We formed a panel of nine attorneys to research the best professional liability plan available. They found only one malpractice policy to recommend to their bar association colleagues, because it provides critical protection no other plan offers:

1. Continuous coverage. Other plans can disclaim coverage if you fail to report "potential" claims. We minimized that exposure for our members.
2. Defense on principle against malpractice claims. With no "Hammer Clause" or consent-to-settle provision, you are never forced to settle.

It adds up to a compelling reason to select the only LPL plan chosen by your bar association.

BE A LEADER OF THE PAC

Protect Your Profession Through Political Action

PABAR-PAC is the political action committee of the Pennsylvania Bar Association. Its mission is to help elect legislators who represent the interests of Pennsylvania's legal profession – our profession – and the clients we serve. Pennsylvania lawyers and the clients we represent are greatly affected by the decisions made by our lawmakers in the state legislature, yet today, only about 20% of these lawmakers are attorneys.

With issues such as taxes on legal services, the unlicensed practice of law, and caps on noneconomic damages in medical malpractice cases, the legal community cannot afford to have fewer legislators on Capitol Hill who lack an understanding of our profession. We need your help to elect legislators who will consider our views on the legal issues that affect us all.

Make your profession's voice heard and become a leader of PABAR-PAC.

Law Day Marks 50th Anniversary: Pennsylvania Theme is 'Growing Strong Citizens'

This year is the 50th anniversary of Law Day, and the theme for Pennsylvania's ninth annual celebration is "Growing Strong Citizens." Through this observance, children of all ages will have the opportunity to explore the ways in which they can become active, involved citizens who can make a positive impact on society.

Lawyers and judges again are being encouraged to visit schools and use the PBA's free law-related lesson plan guide during classroom visits. Because many local bar associations already have plans underway for their annual Law Day festivities, the PBA Law Day program and materials are specifically designed to enhance and supplement those existing efforts. Interested local bar associations can request free lesson plan guides to distribute to members and schools. Information regarding all of the Law Day plans will be mailed to local bar associations shortly.

The PBA Law-Related Education Committee, which coordinates the statewide

Law Day observance, is planning a special 50th birthday party for Law Day on May 1, in the state Capitol in Harrisburg. Law Day is an excellent vehicle for county bar associations to reach out to their membership, not only by including them in Law Day activities, but also by helping them to reach out into the community.

The PBA regularly receives inquiries as to why it does not use the American Bar Association Law Day theme. Several years ago, the PBA LRE Committee decided to adopt Law Day themes that are unique to Pennsylvania. The committee considered using the ABA's themes when it initiated the statewide Law Day program, but found them to be too focused on one aspect of the law. Many Pennsylvania schools expressed interest in having broader themes to which their students could better relate. In addition, the PBA selects a new theme in the spring of the preceding year so that it can be used throughout the school year — from Celebrate the Constitution through Law Day. The ABA does not release its theme until late summer or early fall.

Call the PBA Law Day toll-free hotline at (877) 329-7621 or visit the PBA Web site at www.pabar.org/public/education/lawday/lawdayinformation.asp for more information or send an e-mail to lawday2008@pabar.org with any questions. ■
