

Northwestern Legal Services Launches New Media Blog

If you are traveling the information superhighway to Northwestern Legal Services, be sure you turn on your computer speakers before you get there.

NWLS has announced the launch of a new media blog, www.nwls.org/media, where you can access information on a variety of civil legal topics in audio format. NWLS has taken digital recordings of their bi-monthly radio show “Access to Justice” on WJET AM 1400 in Erie and made them available to listeners at the media site. The blog has been designed so that visitors can do the following:

- Listen to the recordings directly from the site;
- Download the programs to your iPod or other MP3 player;
- Subscribe to RSS feeds that download new shows as they are added to the site.

In the future, NWLS plans to add video clips from their long-running TV series “Access to Justice” on Erie Cablevision (Channel 2) to the media blog to expand the ability to bring information on civil legal topics to the communities served.

January 2008