

Pro Bono Opportunities for Government Lawyers Program

Nicole Bordonaro and Steve Turner of the Pennsylvania Governor's Office of General Counsel (OGC) were joined by PBA Pro Bono Coordinator David Trevaskis and Dauphin County Bar Association Pro Bono Coordinator Sandy Ballard at the Sept. 16, 2008, OGC University for a session on pro bono opportunities for government lawyers. Bordonaro is pictured below holding a brochure for the Civics Education Alliance (CEA) project, a law-related and civic education program the OGC is kicking off in the Harrisburg schools this winter and which she and Turner helped establish. Turner is shown holding his 2008 PBA Pro Bono Award, which he earned for his work in setting up the CEA project as well as for his wide range of pro bono efforts, from handling PFA cases to reading to children in the Harrisburg YWCA's shelter.
