This program brings together the PBA, PBI, and all the law schools in Pennsylvania. Join us as we discuss the effects of mass incarceration on our society.

PROGRAM MODERATOR

Marie Gottschalk, Ph.D.
PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA, PHILADELPHIA

Prof. Gottschalk specializes in American politics, with a focus on criminal justice, health policy, race, the development of the welfare state, and business-labor relations. She served on the American Academy of Arts and Sciences National Task Force on Mass Incarceration and was a member of the National Academy of Sciences Committee on the Causes and Consequences of High Rates of Incarceration.

Her latest book is Caught: The Prison State and the Politics of Mass Incarceration in America (Princeton University Press, 2011). Prof. Gottschalk was a member of the National Academy of Sciences Committee that authored Relocation and was a member of the National Academy of Sciences Committee on the Causes and Consequences of High Rates of Incarceration.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Hon. John Wetzel
SECRETARY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS
Mr. Wetzel is a national consultant and speaker whose areas of expertise include staffing, vulnerability assessment, mentally ill offenders, developing employment opportunities for formerly incarcerated offenders, population management, mitigating impacts on the families/children of incarcerated individuals and effecting system change. His career began in Lebanon County as a corrections officer in 1989. His time there was spent as a correctional officer, counselor, treatment supervisor, and finally Director of the Training Academy. Then, in January of 2002, he began his 9-year tenure as Warden of the Franklin County Jail. In December of 2012, he was selected as the 125th Secretary of Corrections for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by then-Governor-elect Tom Corbett. In January of 2015, Mr. Wetzel was asked by Governor Tom Wolf to continue as the Secretary of Corrections for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

FACULTY

JILL E. FAMILY, ESQ.
DIRECTOR OF THE LAW AND GOVERNMENT INSTITUTE, WIDENER UNIVERSITY, COMMONWEALTH LAW SCHOOL, HARRISBURG

Professor Family is an internationally known expert in immigration law. Her scholarship focuses on the procedures used to adjudicate immigration issues. She brings her expertise into the classroom in courses on civil procedure, administrative law, and immigration law.

DAVID A. HARRIS, ESQ.
PROFESSOR OF LAW, UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH SCHOOL OF LAW, PITTSBURGH

Professor Harris studies, writes and teaches about police behavior and regulation, law enforcement, and national security issues and the law. Professor Harris is the leading national authority on racial profiling. His 2002 book, Profiling in Justice: Why Racial Profiling Counts, and his scholarly articles in the field of traffic stops of minority motorists and stops and frisks, influenced the national debate on profiling and related topics. His 2003 book, Good Cops. The Case for Preventive Policing, uses case studies from around the country to show that citizens need not trade liberty for safety.

 JOHN HOLLWAY, ESQ.
UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA, QUARTERLY CENTER FOR THE LAW ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE, PHILADELPHIA

Professor Hollway is the author of Killing Time: An 18-Year Odyssey From Death Row to Freedom, which covered the case of John Thompson, a Louisiana Death Row inmate who was exonerated and freed after 18 years in prison. Thompson was the plaintiff in the pivotal Supreme Court decision, Connick v. Thompson. Killing Time won the National Independent Book Award for non-fiction in 2011, and was one of the Chicago Sun-Times’ Best Books of the Year in 2010.

LAUREN OUEZIL, ESQ.
TEMPLE UNIVERSITY BEASLY SCHOOL OF LAW, PHILADELPHIA

Professor Ouziel teaches criminal procedure, evidence, and civil procedure. Her research, which focuses on institutional dynamics in criminal investigation and adjudication, has addressed differences between the federal and state criminal justice systems in dynamics among courts, lawmakers and law enforcers, and how those differences influence public perceptions of legitimacy, and law outcomes.

THOMAS PLACE, ESQ.
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY CHARLES WIDGER SCHOOL OF LAW

Professor Place's research and writing focuses on issues of access to the judicial system with a particular emphasis on post-conviction remedies. His interest in this area was shaped by his early years working as a public interest lawyer, serving for many years as the director of the Law School's Prison Clinic, and his work as a pro bono lawyer.

TERESA RAVENELL, ESQ.
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY CHARLES WIDGER SCHOOL OF LAW

Professor Ravenell's scholarly focus is on §1983, the federal civil remedy for constitutional deprivations, and examines the points at which §1983 jurisprudence converges with other areas of the law. Her articles have been published in Villanova Law Review, Temple Law Review, and Seton Hall Law Review.

LEONARD N. SNOSN, ESQ.
DICKINSON LAW, PENN STATE UNIVERSITY, CARLISLE

Professor Sosnow has had extensive litigation experience, including briefing and arguing two cases before the United States Supreme Court. He has also represented individuals on behalf of Cantor Fitzgerald, a non-profit organization dedicated to freeing innocent individuals sentenced to life imprisonment or death.

DONALD F. TIBBS, ESQ.
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF LAW, DELAWARE LAW SCHOOL, WILMINGTON

Professor Tibbs is the co-author of Hip Hop and the Law, a compilation of essays published in 2015 that complement a course and lecture series he developed in 2012. The author of FRONT BLOCK POWER TO PRISON POWER: THE MAKING OF JAVES V. NORTH CAROLINA PRISONERS’ LABOR UNION, (Palgrave MacMillan 2012), his publications also include THE RENNIE AND BLACK PUNISHMENT: LAW AND RACE IN THE DYNAMICS OF NON-EXISTENCE, in the Seattle Journal for Social Justice, and others.

SHOBA SIVAPRASAD WADHIA, ESQ.
DIRECTOR, CENTER FOR IMMIGRANT’S RIGHTS, PENN STATE LAW SCHOOL

Professor Shoba Sivaprasad Wadhia is an expert on immigration law and one of the nation’s leading scholars on the role of prosecutorial discretion in immigration law. Her book, Beyond deportation: The Role of Prosecutorial Discretion in Immigration Cases, was published by New York University Press in 2015.

JOHN RAGO, ESQ.
DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW, PITTSBURGH

Professor Rago’s work in the area of criminal justice focuses on wrongful convictions within the broad context of collaborative policy-making and the establishment of science-based best practices for law enforcement and prosecutors. The guiding principle of his efforts is to establish policies and practices that are good for law enforcement, good for victims, and good for the accused.
