The Past, Present and Future of Title IX Actions in Higher Education

Join us for an analysis and overview of the history of Title IX actions, the current state of such actions and what the newly developing regulations could mean for such actions in the future.

The seminar will feature a frank discussion about the various issues that may arise when sexual assault claims are made on campus with insight about the perspective of the four main interest groups involved: The Accuser, The Accused, The University and the Title IX Coordinator.

Find out how to identify ethical issues involving due process, issues of confidentiality, and the handling of disciplinary actions.
