Pennsylvania Bar Association President Anne N. John on Association Operations during the Coronavirus (COVID-19) Crisis

During the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, we remain committed to protecting the health and safety of our members, employees and the communities at large, and we are acting in accord with state and federal health and safety recommendations. Therefore, at this time, almost all employees of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and its CLE department, the Pennsylvania Bar Institute (PBI), are working remotely. Members can continue to access a broad range of services through the websites of the PBA (www.pabar.org) and PBI (www.pbi.org).

An important note: While PBI’s in-person continuing legal education sessions are postponed, PBI’s on-demand CLE programs are available and readily accessible. PBI is also offering discounts of 35% on all on-demand PBI CLE programs and webinars, now through the end of August with code ONLINE35.

Please consult the online calendar for information regarding the postponement or cancellation of PBA meetings and events (The link for the calendar is easily found at the top right of our website homepage.).

We are continually reviewing our protocols, procedures and efforts to best serve the practice needs of our members. To that end, we are in contact with all appropriate boards and other entities as part of our ongoing efforts to serve our members’ CLE and other practice needs during this time of crisis.

The guidance provided to all of us by national and state leaders will likely change repeatedly during the next weeks. Therefore, please continue to recheck the PBA and PBI websites for updates.

Thank you for your understanding. Take good care.
