Words of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

“Now, I say to you today my friends, even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream. I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: ‘We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.”

“Life’s most urgent question is: What are you doing for others?”

“An individual has not started living until he can rise above the narrow confines of his individualistic concerns to the broader concerns of all humanity.”

“Everybody can be great. Because anybody can serve. You only need a heart full of grace. A soul generated by love.”

Organist: Mr. Theodore Didden

A Notice to Our Visitors

Valley Forge Military Academy and College endorses the Surgeon General’s report concerning the dangers of smoking and wishes to discourage smoking by its cadets. Your cooperation and demonstration of leadership by not smoking while on campus will be greatly appreciated. In addition, as a courtesy and safety measure for its residents, there should be no parking on Farriston Road. Please use either the General Parking Lot, located adjacent to the athletic fields, or South Campus Parking Lot, located south of Eagle Road. Appropriate dress is also requested. Thank you for your support and understanding.

Our speaker this morning is David K. Trevaskis, Esquire. Mr. Trevaskis graduated from Duke University with a BA in 1976 and a Master's in Education in 1977. He attended the Temple University School of Law and earned a J.D. degree in 1988. Mr. Trevaskis is the Pro Bono Coordinator for Legal Services for the Pennsylvania Bar Association. He describes himself as an attorney educator whose work promotes access to justice and violence prevention.

Mr. Trevaskis believes in the mission of VFMAC to empower cadets to thrive in an environment that demands standards of conduct, ethical behavior, integrity, spiritual values, community service and competition. Within a low-risk, supportive and caring environment, cadets are encouraged to set goals and strive for excellence, while developing leadership skills and a sense of individual responsibility. His work against interpersonal violence fits well into the VFMAC model, because it relies on both individual action and accountability and group cohesion.

Mr. Trevaskis is an Olweus certified bullying prevention trainer. He views bullying as a basic violation of human rights and strongly believes that anti-bullying education is an important element of the civic mission of schools.

Mr. Trevaskis is the recipient of numerous professional awards including the 2013 Pennsylvania Legal Aid Network Award for Excellence. He and his wife, Donna Adelsberger, have two children and two grandsons.

We are proud to welcome this distinguished Community Advocate and Champion of Non-violence to our pulpit this morning.
